TERRY TANGNEY

Cpl. Terry Tagney was an Australian who had served in the Royal Australian Regiment. He served in RLI Support Commando and was a veteran of many contacts. During quiet times he was THE Support Commando prankster often an outspoken character. Several Rhodesian Air Force aircraft had mysteriously sported a black kangaroo spray painted on their fuselage. Rumor has it Terry was nearby with a stencil and a spray can of black paint! Terry finished his Army career in the Army Photographic Section mastering his photography skills for a possible career as a war correspondent. Terry died in 2007.
